I. READING (10 Marks)

So you thought the burger was the world’s most popular food? In fact there is another universal fast food, the “pizza” as it has been one of America’s favorite foods for over 50 years. There are 61,269 pizzerias in the United States. Pizza is a thirty billion dollar industry. According to an estimate Americans eat 350 slices of pizza per second.

The idea of using pieces of flat, round bread as plates come from the Greeks. They called them “Plakuntos” with toppings such as oil, garlic, onions and herbs. The Romans enjoyed eating something similar and called it picea. By 1000 A.D in the city of Naples picea had become pizza and people were experimenting with more toppings: cheese, meat, anchovies and finally tomatoes and then in the sixteenth century pizza travelled to Mexico and Peru. Naples became the pizza capital of the world. The first pizzeria opened in Naples in 1830.

In 1889 King Umberto 1 and Queen Margherita heard about the famous pizza maker Raffaelo Esposito and asked him to make pizza. He decided to make the pizza like the Italian flag with red tomatoes, white cheese and green basil leaves. The queen loved it and the new pizza was named “Pizza Margherita. Pizza migrated to America with the Italians at the end of nineteenth century. The first pizzeria opened in 1905 at spring street, New York City. Pizza industry bloomed after World War II. In Japan eel, lobster and squid are favorite toppings. In Brazil, they like green peas on their pizza. In Australia the favorites are prawns and pineapples.
