I - READING (5 Marks)

Read the passage carefully and answer the following questions.

Twenty five years ago, very few people used the Internet. Now, when people think about the Internet, they think about shopping. Amazon.com was one of the first companies to try to sell products on the Internet. Jeff Bezos started the company. One day he made a prediction about the future. He saw that the World Wide Web was growing 2,000 percent a year. He thought that shopping was going to move to the Internet. People were going to shop online. He quit his good job and drove across the country to Seattle, Washington. There he started an online bookstore called Amazon.com. Bezos had very little money. The company began in a garage, and at first there were very few customers. At the Amazon.com site, people can search for a book about a subject, find many different books about that subject, read what other people think about the books, order them by credit card, and get them in the mail in two days. This kind of bookstore was a new idea, but the business grew. In a few years, Amazon.com had 10 million customers and sold 18 million different items like books, CDs, toys, electronics, videos, DVDs, home improvement products, software and video games. Today at a “virtual shopping mall” - a group of online stores - you can buy anything from gourmet food to vacations. Fifteen years ago, many people said, “Online shopping is crazy. Nobody can make money in an online company.” They were wrong. Today, Jeff Bezos is a billionaire. More and more people are shopping online, and online companies are making a profit. It is a huge business. Some say, “customers are afraid of online crime, and they will stop shopping on the internet.”
